Did you know that the deepest bond that all human beings have, is the one we established with our mother in the womb? The bond with our mother is the basis of all the links we establish in life, with ourselves, with other people, with the earth, with nature and with the way we face the world. We have a very deep link with our origin, it is from where we build our sense of life. It is important to review the transcendence of the mother and rescue all the positive aspects that come from her ...

The Body of the Mother represents the field of our evolution, it is from where we receive life, it is where the strength of our being is created, it is the most precious value of humanity, it is the evidence that we can recreate to transcend, since through it, the fundamental principles and values of the Being are formed.

The archetype of the Mother is associated with the representation of Mother Earth, with its beauty and magnitude, with its capacity for creation, to contain life, to preserve it; the womb, the maternal womb, symbol of primitive peoples, it was assimilated with the cave where they found protection and heat, where they fed, where the children were born, where they took care of themselves, where they went to rest.

In all cultures, the mother is the most significant archetype, as a representation of the origin of life, birth, continuity, strength and vitality where love and provision are found. As a vital field, it is associated with the garden, the trees, the spring, the mountain, the lagoons, the sea, the baptismal font, the lotus flower, the mandalas, among the most significant.

In the history of all the religions of humanity, the Great Mother manifests as a mother goddess, all the Mothers like Mary, Kwan Yin and Tara, among others, represent the Cosmic Divine Mother origin of creation. The Mother, also refers us to the mythology of the mother earth of the peoples of South America Gaia, and in the pre-Columbian cultures, especially the Inca, the Pachamama, all raising the vital force of the mother who is Origin and reunion with the creator, with life.

It is a natural part of the woman to be a mother, it is related to the feminine strength, she has the privilege of creating life and preserving it, the mother is associated with spirituality, with the power of love, which gives affection and care, refers to the innermost and deepest aspect of each human being, where it meets its origin.

Life is magic, fertility is inherent to women, to the earth, it is where the seed grows and the beauty and joy of the flowers spring in spring.

All this journey through the meaning and strength of the mother, allows us to dimension the transcendence in our lives and how it influences the formation of our identity and how we reflect the beginning; in the purpose that we give to our lives. It is essential to be in balance to achieve and preserve these attributes of the mother, becoming aware of this dimension and vital force and apply it to everything we do, think and feel. The mother is present in us, in every cell of our body, in our thoughts and feelings, in our actions.

From the capacity we have to rescue this mother essence, we can feel connected with all life around us and continue the chain of life and grow as a species, as integral beings, men and women capable of being happy and making others happy. If there is any blockage to the encounter with our reality, we can go to the depths of our being when we swim in the nutritious, warm, comfortable uterus from where we were born, our Origin.

With a personal hug, closing our eyes in an instant we can connect with that beautiful memory that remains intact in us in our psyche and electrons of our body and there heal what bothers or affects us and attract the harmony we need.
